

CHO OYU EXPEDITION

8 201 meter

42 days

Cho-Oyu, meaning Turquoise God, is the sixth highest mountain in the world and is located west of Everest along the Nepal Tibet border. The first summit on this mountain was made in 1954 by a small Austrian/Tibetan expedition.

The easy access to this mountain, relatively safe climbing route and fewer technical difficulties makes Cho Oyu the most attainable of the world's highest mountains, providing an excellent opportunity for climbers to extend their experience to extreme altitudes. The base of this mountain (Chinese Base Camp) is reached by four wheel vehicles, and a two day trek from here will bring you to Base Camp at 5600m.

Our expedition follows the West Ridge/West Face, which has two short technical sections. We will establish Advanced Base Camp (ABC) at 5600 meters (19,024 feet), Camp I at 6500 meters, Camp II at 7100 meters (23,288 feet), and Camp III at 7400 meters (24,272 feet).

The route to Camp 1 at 6,400 meters is basically a steep walk, often done in hiking boots. Above Camp 1, the climbing route has only a few short technical sections yet is direct, allowing climbers to gain altitude without covering a lot of distance.

Summit day begins early. A few rocky steps (4 meters high) and mixed snow climb at a 30-45 degree angle brings you to the wide summit plateau followed by a long traverse brings you to the summit, at 8,201 meters/27,000 feet. You know you are on the true summit when you see the inspiring views of Everest, Lhotse, Nuptse, Makalu, and the entire Khumbu valley, as well as great views across the Tibetan plateau to Shishapangma.

Our expedition emphasizes on cautious and careful climbing, with excellent leadership, organization, experienced Sherpa climbers and top quality equipments. We provide 'walkie-talkie' radios, satellite telephones, the best oxygen bottles and apparatus, top-quality high altitude tents (Hilleberg Saivo), high altitude stoves, expedition mix gas, and full safety equipment: medical oxygen, gamow bag, and extensive medical kit.

Although Cho Oyu is considered as the easiest 8000m climb, it does not make it an easy climb in itself. Any 8000m mountain should be taken seriously and a cautious and careful approach is crucial. You need to be very fit and should have an extensive outdoor experience. A basic mountaineering course or a minimum of 6200m climbing experience is mandatory to join this expedition. We also have a downloadable medical form that you must fill up and submit along with your booking form.

Experience Required

The Cho Oyu expedition is suitable for experienced mountaineers. To join us on Cho Oyu, you need to be fully conversant with mountaineering techniques. Ideally, having completed Alpine climbs and have prior altitude experience of around 6,000m.

On the Mountain

We have highly experienced Climbing Sherpas, and we provide one climbing Sherpa between two climbers. Our Sherpas will fix the route, set up the high camps and carry the oxygen cylinders, as well as the group equipment, such as tents, stoves etc. For an additional expense, we can also provide personal Sherpas and climbing-guides to individual members who wish to have their own private Sherpa. We provide walkie-talkie' radios, satellite telephones, the best oxygen bottles, 4 camps on the mountain, sufficient fixed line, hundreds of rock, ice and snow anchors, top-quality high altitude tents and high altitude stoves, expedition mix gas, and full safety equipment: medical oxygen, gamow bag, and extensive medical kit.

Cooks and Food: On our expedition, our skillful and hard working cooks prepare three hot meals each day with a very healthy diet of fresh vegetables, cheese, eggs, and fresh meat (all meats and fish are prepared separately out of respect for the vegetarians in our midst). Our cooks also make sure that you get a high dose of carbohydrates from breads, rice and pastas. They supply you with unlimited hot-drinks, the key to successful acclimatization. We have weatherproof kitchens and heated dining tents, with comfortable chairs and tables.

Healthy and trouble free holiday

There are no compulsory vaccinations required for entering Nepal. However please consult a doctor for vaccination against Typhoid, Meningitis, polio, and hepatitis. If you have special dietary requirements or allergies, please through your agent, give us a list of what you can and can't eat so that we can provide proper food for you.

If you are undergoing a course of prescription medicine, please ensure that you have sufficient supplies for the entire holiday. Some types of drugs including antimalarials have side affects at high altitude; therefore please consult your doctors regarding these drugs. The places you trek are mosquito free and there has been no report on malaria in Kathmandu for the past couple of decades.

Insure yourself

Travel insurance is mandatory. Full-coverage insurance is essential, because it not only covers mountain climbing, but also covers travels to and from the mountain. Before purchasing, please check the terms of the policy carefully. You must be covered for travel, medical costs, full domestic rescue, helicopter (where available) and international rescue and repatriation expenses. On arrival to Kathmandu we collect your copy of insurance. NO INSURANCE = NO EXPEDITION MEMBERSHIP.

Money Matters

The ideal currency to bring with you is USD. In Kathmandu you can then exchange it to Rupees since you will need rupees for all shopping.

In Kathmandu: Each meal will cost around 4 to 6 USD. Plus 10 to 20 USD for your taxis if you wish to go around the city.

On trek: you will need around 6 to 10 USD per day. This money is for your hot showers, chocolates, soft drinks and beers etc and also for small donations in the monasteries.

Tipping

Although tipping is entirely optional and personal matter the following is recommended as a guideline

In Kathmandu: For bellboys, waiters and porters 30 to 50 Nepali Rupees

On the trek: At the end of the trek it is a customary to tip the field staff. The recommended amount is 150 US$/group member. The Expedition leader will collect the tip and then split it between the sirdar, cook, kitchen helpers, yak driver, liaison officer and interpreter, and put it in envelopes so that the expedition members can give it to the staff during the "Farwell Ceremonies". The summit bonus for your climbing Sherpa is recommended to 500 US$ and is given separately. If you want to tip the Nepali expedition leader you can also do that separately.
